In today's workshops:

- Reflect on our national context, the importance and impact of collaborative working and frameworks to enable this
- Share example Professional Development Groups – effective collaboration across different settings
- Understand the use of EEF Implementation Guidance as a vehicle to support an evidence-informed approach to school improvement and for professional development groups
- Share case studies of effective collaboration and working together

Special Educational Needs in England

Funded by

Special educational needs, definition

A child or young person has special educational needs if he or she has a learning difficulty or disability which calls for special educational provision

Learning difficulty a significantly greater difficulty in learning than the majority of others of the same age

A disability which prevents or hinders him or her from making use of facilities of a kind generally provided for others of the same age

Special educational provision means educational or training provision that is additional to, or different from, that made generally for others of the same age

Plus, for children below compulsory school age ...have SEN if they would be likely to have SEN at compulsory school age if no special educational provision were made for them

A twice relative definition:

- We compare one child with others: 'greater difficulty in learning than...'
- Special educational provision is compared with 'that made generally available'

Generally available provision:

As 'that made generally' provision improves, fewer children need additional or different

As 'that made generally' diminishes, more children need additional or different

Summary of recommendations

1 Adopt the behaviours that drive effective implementation	Engage people so they can shape what happens while also providing overall direction.
	Unite people around what is being implemented, how it will be implemented and why it matters.
	Reflect , monitor and adapt to improve implementation.
2 Attend to the contextual factors that influence implementation	Consider whether what is being implemented is evidence-informed, right for the setting and feasible to implement.
	Develop systems and structures that support implementation, for example, time allocation on data systems.
	Ensure people who enable change can support, lead and positive influence implementation.
3 Use a structured but flexible implementation process	Use a structured process to apply the behaviours and contextual factors to your day to day work.
	Adapt a practical and tailored set of implementation strategies organised into manageable phases : Explore, Prepare, Deliver, Sustain.
	Treat implementation as a process of ongoing learning and improvement .

Summary of recommendations

The following recommendations work together. The process helps schools do implementation. The cross-cutting behaviours and contextual factors help them do it well.

- 1 Adopt the behaviours that drive effective implementation
  - Engage people so they can shape what happens while also providing overall direction.
  - Unite people around what is being implemented, how it will be implemented, and why it matters.
  - Reflect, monitor, and adapt to improve implementation.
- 2 Attend to the contextual factors that influence implementation
  - Consider whether what is being implemented is evidence-informed, right for the setting, and feasible to implement.
  - Develop systems and structures that support implementation, for example, time allocation or data systems.
  - Ensure people who enable change can support, lead, and positively influence implementation.
- 3 Use a structured but flexible implementation process
  - Use a structured process to apply the behaviours and contextual factors to your day to day work.
  - Adopt a practical and tailored set of implementation strategies organised into manageable phases: Explore, Prepare, Deliver, and Sustain.
  - Treat implementation as a process of ongoing learning and improvement.
