

Looking for support with A level Maths?

Mentoring for Black heritage students

Receive free support from our dedicated mentors to achieve academic success and develop your confidence and communication skills with the University of Kent's programme Levelling Up: Maths for Black heritage students.

Successful applicants will attend free online A level Maths tutorials fortnightly throughout Year 12 and 13, on Wednesdays from 5pm – 6:30pm as well as a launch event on campus on Saturday 20th May.

Priority will be given to Black heritage students as they are currently underrepresented in STEM subjects at universities in the UK.

If you're currently in Year 12 and considering studying mathematics or another STEM subject at University, apply today.
